Francesco Binfaré

General description:

Large and comfortable sofa, convertible from a classical low back model to a cozy high back version by only changing the position of the five mobile elements composing the armrests and the backrest.

The sophisticated, organically inspired and totally invisible engineering on which the sofa is based, allows fluid movements during the adjustment and a gentle locking in the selected position. The great simplicity of the movements is indulged by a cover ideated to freely follow every change of position. Many sofas in one: drooping, soft and cozy, but at the same time structured, bodied and absolutely sturdy.

Use:

A sofa which offers many different possibilities of comfort. If all elements of the sofa are up, you can lay on it, rest and slip your head in the soft and "undone" concavities between the different components.

If all elements are down you get a classical formal seat. You can seat in the corner with only the lateral back up and the armrests outstretched; with the 2 angular components up it's an ideal sofa for a face to face conversation for 2 people.
